The Newsletter for License Coordinators of TeachingBooks.net

October 2012

Vol. 8, No. 10

*This monthly newsletter provides the inside scoop on how you can maximize your use of TeachingBooks.
Please forward pertinent information to your colleagues.*

New Navigation to Help Teachers Find Exemplary Instructional Materials

Encourage your colleagues to check out TeachingBooks.net again. We have redesigned the navigation so that it can be really easy and efficient to find materials for the books and authors you are reading. Highlights include:

- Direct links on the home page to our original Meet-the-Author Movies and Book Readings. Now you can browse these pages and get excited about finding favorite authors introducing the books you are teaching.
- Special collections, including state reading lists, Common Core resources, and national book award materials.

The gold navigation on the top makes it easy to browse by genre, grade levels, and more from any webpage on our site. It also provides instant access to popular items and to our comprehensive help and training.

Access Reminder

Your license is for anyone using books. Freely forward and share this access information with colleagues so that they can enjoy and value these multimedia connections to the books and authors read in their classrooms.

1. Go to: <http://TeachingBooks.net/Home>
2. Enter your work email address and hit "Submit"

Contests & Giveaways

Today, we'd like to share some free and enjoyable opportunities that support the mission of TeachingBooks. These opportunities include chances to win free elementary books, including Counting on Fall (the first title in the Math in Nature series) and the chance to win a small voice part in the animated film version of The Boxcar Children by Gertrude Chandler Warner!
